REPORT OF SCHOOL BOARD.

TO THE CITIZENS OF HANCOCK :

The School Board in submitting its annual report is pleased to be able to announce that the school work of the year just passed has been successful.

The pupils on the whole, have been interested in their work and have made good progress in their studies.

We have been fortunate, with one or two exceptions, in securing teachers that have not only won the respect of their pupils, but proven themselves qualified to engage in that high calling of directing the minds of our children towards an education.

Although everything that might be desired has not been accomplished, yet we feel that the results attained during the past year have been an improvement over previous years.

A desirable class of people are purchasing all available real estate in town and occupying it principally for permanent homes, and if we wish to retain them as citizens we must see to it that our schools are kept up to date in equipment and furnishings as well as in methods of instruction and courses of study.

Two important features have been introduced into our school work during the year, viz. : The employing of a superintendent, and the teaching of music by a competent instructor.

The school districts of Marlboro and Harrisville have finally united with Hancock in forming a supervisory district, and we have thus been enabled to carry out the vote of the district to this effect, taken several years ago.

After many personal interviews and much correspondence, Mr. Carl Cotton was secured as superintendent at a salary of $1200 per year, one-half of which is borne by the state; Hancock's share being $180.

We feel that we have secured a competent man for the position and although he did not commence his duties until the beginning of the fall term, yet the value of a supervisor has already made itself apparent through better work in our schools, and that he has not been idle will be realized on reading his report to the school board.

Two hundred dollars was voted at our last annual meeting for musical instruction in our schools. This sum has been carefully laid out and that it has been a paying investment we feel sure all would agree did they have an adequate idea of the progress made in this line.

For new text books we have introduced the lower grades of the Aldine series of readers, which have proven highly satisfactory. Such other books and supplies have been procured as needed for actual use and to replace those worn out.

Two complete sets of maps have also been purchased for schools No. 2 and No. 3. Should we continue our present number of schools a set of maps is needed for No. 9 school the coming year.

Quite extensive repairs and equipment are needed in our outlying school houses, among which are new black-boards complete, a partial set of new seats and desks and plastering and whitewashing to some extent.

Therefore a larger appropriation than usual is needed for repairs.

We would respectfully urge upon parents and other citizens the importance of visiting the schools more and thus becoming better acquainted with the work being done, thereby gaining position whereby they will be able to judge understandingly of its quality.

According to provisions of state law, we make the following financial estimates of the needs of our schools for the coming year :

Money required by law,	$1410 00
To be assessed by Selectmen.
a High school tuition	300 00
b Text books and pupil's supplies	150 00
c Flags and appurtenances	5 00
To be appropriated at school meeting.
Salaries of school district officers	100 00
Needed for repairs	200 00
Additional school money needed	700 00

The Roll of Honor, Statistical Table, Report of Superintendent to the School Board and Treasurer's report follow.

Respectfully submitted,

WILFRED M. DAVIS,
 ELLA F. PERRY,
 ELLA A. ROBINSON,

TO THE SCHOOL BOARD OF HANCOCK.

GREETING :

I have the honor to present my first annual report as superintendent of your schools. As I undertook the work only last fall and have served but a portion of a year thus far, I may not be expected to render so full and complete report as though my service had been of longer duration.

In assuming my duties I found that my chief work would be in guiding, directing and encouraging the work of the teacher in a sympathetic and appreciative manner, so that defects in methods and principles could be remedied in such a way as not to discourage the teacher. Among my other duties have been the nomination of teachers and employees, recommending of text books, supplies, courses of study, programs, and directing the methods of instruction.

Matters relative to the appropriation of revenue, establishment of schools, election and dismissal of teachers and employees, control of the program, the adoption of rules and regulations and all other matters not specifically delegated to the superintendent by them, have been left with the school board, as is customary elsewhere throughout the United States.

The plan or program which is outlined in the State program is an excellent one and has been used, with slight modification sometimes, by nearly every superintendent in the state and has been adopted by the school board and used by your superintendent.

In it particular stress is laid upon reading in the first three years, at the end of which the child should have mastered the mechanics of reading. He should have sufficient practice to enable him to read readily, smoothly and with understanding, ordinary prose. In order to produce this result in our rural schools the work of the first year must be vitalized and the child required to do some actual reading. With this aim in view a combination of the rhyme and phonic method has been adopted with gratifying results. One primer has been completed in all the schools to date and some have read more than one book. From three to six books should be read thoroughly the first year.

A great part of our difficulty in school work grows out of the difficulty the children have in reading their work and understanding what they have read. If half the child's energy is expended in getting the pronunciation and meaning of common words he can get but very little meaning out what he reads in his other school subjects, such as arithmetic, geography, grammar, etc. It is the basis of his school life and he must have it before he can forge ahead. The child that does not learn to read during the first three years of his school life will probably never learn it. Other avenues of learning are closed to him.

In arithmetic the aim has been at rapidity and accuracy in addition, subtraction, multiplication and division; common and decimal fractions, including the different phases of percentage, taxes, commission, interest, commercial discount; denominate numbers and the table of weights and measures and facility in solving easy problems bearing on these subjects. Arithmetical puzzles that will seldom or never be of practical value to the pupil are eliminated or postponed to the last grade of the grammar school, when the reasoning power of the child shall have become stronger.

Tests have been made of the pupils' writing. Each pupil, in conjunction with the teacher and superintendent, has been allowed to judge his own writing by comparing it as a series of samples, ranging from illegible to perfect writing, on a chart. In this way the child gains a very good idea of the quality of his own writing and is possessed with an aspiration to improve it at other future tests. Much rivalry is displayed among the different schools themselves as to their relative standing which is summarized. The object in writing is to give the children the ability to write with a fair degree of rapidity a legible hand. This calls for freedom of movement rather than beauty of writing. In the lower grades form and speed come with practice.

The work in history and geography is designed to give the pupils a knowledge of the world and its peoples, with special reference to their relations with the United States. In language and grammar the program emphasizes the importance of giving the child during the earlier years of his school life, the ability to express his thoughts in good plain English, and in the last years the fundamentals of English grammar.

The purpose of the teaching of physiology is to make the children acquainted with their bodies and common functions; to teach them how to use and care for them and to teach them the injurious effects of evil habits and poisonous drugs.

Teachers are admonished to exercise as careful supervision over the children during the recess periods as in school hours. All the teaching along moral lines is frequently allowed to be broken down at recess. A participation by the teacher in organizing their plays and games not only gives the teacher greater leadership among her children but also eliminates many of the sordid features of school life. In this way the weak will be developed physically as well as the strong by being required to take some active exercise.

In our district schools we must generally employ recent untrained high school graduates and train them as fast as we can into efficient teachers. Our chances for securing normal school graduates are very remote, as the graded schools absorb them readily. This has been a very important part of my work and to do it I have visited the schools as often as possible, watching carefully for opportunities to show the teacher where she might improve her work, taking the class sometimes for a few minutes to show her how to teach the subject better and vitalize some method of teaching discussed or studied by the teacher. In other instances the teacher is told how to work to the best advantage and secure the best results.

Teachers' meetings have been held for the purpose of discussing methods as well as to illustrate them by actual teaching; to promote an interest in improving the teacher's professional knowledge and to discuss the topics of the State examination.

I would recommend that new blackboards be purchased for all schools. Those in use are inadequate or not up to the standard required today for good school work. Slate is very cheap now. At present it can be obtained for 15c. per square foot. It furnishes the best surface to write on and will last as long as the building.

Much of the furniture in the rural schools is either broken or pernicious in that the child does not fit it. This should be replaced by new furniture.

In closing, I wish to express my appreciation of the cordial manner in which the people of Hancock have received me and the hearty cooperation of the members of the school board, without which I would have been unable to accomplish much that I have undertaken.

Respectfully submitted, -

CARL COTTON,

Superintendent.
